FREAK WEATHER DOES MUCH DAMAGE IN U. S.

HURRICANES, STORMS, RAINS, FOG AND HEAT

APPROXIMATELY 40 LIVES LOST.
PROPERTY DAMAGE IN MILLIONS

WESTERN UNITED STATES TO EAST COAST, FLORIDA TO
GULF OF ST. LAWRENCE

(By United Press)
Hurricanes, electrical storms, heavy rains, fog and heat took a widespread toll in lives and property damage in the last few days. Approximately 40 lives were lost and property damage ran into the millions.

The freak weather extended from western United States to the east coast, and from Florida to the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

The greatest damage was done by hurricane and flood in Florida, where the loss was estimated at more than $3,000,000.

Georgia was hit by floods, which prevailed over a wide area in the central and southern parts of the state.

The middlewest and northwest suffered intensely from the heat, to which 29 deaths were attributed.

Three deaths from lightning and many heat prostrations were recorded in New York, where a severe electrical storm did much damage.

Twenty persons were injured near Amsterdam, New York, when spread rails, attributed to the heavy rains, derailed the last two cars of the Metropolitan Limited on the New York Central Railroad.

From Montreal, three steamers, the Aldebaran, Innerton and Illinworth were reported to have gone aground at Varennes, 30 miles down the St. Lawrence, blocking the channel. Ocean sailings from Montreal were delayed.

Another freak manifestation, not believed by scientists to have any direct connection with the weather, began early today when the earth entered a belt of flaming meteors, remnants of the shattered comet Perseids, discovered in 1862. They are plainly visible to the naked eye and the phenomenon will last for three days.

The United States weather bureau predicted showers or cloudy weather, slightly cooler, for most of the United States today, with clearing weather Sunday.

Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 11.—Flood waters added today to the damage caused by the hurricane which tore across Florida earlier this week, leaving ruined crops, damaged buildings and disrupted communications in its wake.

The lake region was the worst affected by the floods. Streams overflowed their banks and inundated orchards, fields, highways and towns. Several towns were cut off from the outside world by impassable highways.

Lake Kiskimie rose considerably. St. Cloud, Okeechobee City and other towns reported water in the streets and Taylor's creek, overflowing its banks, flooded the lowlands for half a mile on either side.

Reconstruction work was proceeding rapidly in the areas affected by the hurricane and communications were restored in nearly every section.

Total damage to crops, buildings, roads, railways and communications was estimated at well over $3,000,000.

Apparently there was no loss of life, although anxiety was expressed for two men who left the Bahamas for Bimini in a seaplane and have not been heard from.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 11.—A wind and rain storm—remnant of the Florida hurricane—was sweeping back into the Atlantic today, after causing minor damage to property and crops across southern and middle Georgia and eastern South Carolina.

Streams were at flood stage in central Georgia as a result of the heavy rain.

Near Augusta, Ga., the winds reached a high velocity and trees were toppled, cottages damaged and telephone and telegraph lines severed.

Five persons were reported injured when houses were wrecked.

At Macon, Ga., the Ocmulgee river was at flood stage after a fall of 8.5 inches of rain in 15 hours. Washouts on highways and the Central of Georgia railroad were reported.

A sharp wind blew at Charleston and shipping held at the Copper river basin.

The storm hit south Georgia near

CHURCH BOARD MAY OBJECT TO DEBATE IN CHURCH

New York, Aug. 11.—(U.P.)—The Rev. Dr. John Roach Straton's board of trustees may object to his proposed debate in Calvary Baptist church with Governor Alfred E. Smith, the democratic candidate for president.

The subject will be discussed at a meeting of the trustees because Dr. Straton has encountered opposition within his own flock on previous occasions when unusual services brought wide publicity to the church. Heretofore he has always been victorious.

Debates are not uncommon at Calvary. In 1922 Dr. Straton debated with William A. Brady on the relative morality of the church and stage. In 1927 Dr. Straton debated evolution with Prof. K. T. Mather of Harvard.

MOTOR TRUCK FIRMS IN FREIGHT RATE NOTICE OF APPEAL

RESTRAINING ORDER WILL BE DEMANDED AGAINST OPEN- ING OF LINES

WOULD ESTABLISH ADDITIONAL SERVICE IN TERRITORY ALREADY SERVED

St. Paul, Aug. 11.—(U.P.)—Notice of appeal was served on the Minnesota state railroad and warehouse commission today from an order establishing a network of motor freight lines in the vicinity of Fergus Falls to furnish relief from railroad freight discriminations brought about by the Fargo rate decision.

A restraining order against the opening of the lines August 28 will be demanded by opponents of the lines, in a complaint to be filed on Monday. The plaintiffs are the Minnesota Motor Express, which operates lines between the Twin Cities and Fargo; Kiesling and Racek, operators of a line between Barnesville and Fargo; Rueben Schmidt, operator of a line between Alexandria and Fergus Falls, and Richard Chase who operates a line between Sauk Centre and Elbow Lake.

All of the trucking companies objected to the order on the grounds that it would establish additional service in a territory already served by them.

It was also announced here that the Raymond Brothers Trucking Co., St. Cloud, which operates a line between the Twin Cities and St. Cloud by way of Sauk Centre, will establish a joint rate to be 90 per cent of the local rate.

The joint rate would make possible shipping from the Twin Cities into the territory on the former Minnesota rate scale, putting the lines into competition with lines already serving Fergus Falls, Sauk Centre and other points on the line of the proposed routes.

Thomasville. Awnings and trees were blown down.

According to the weather bureau the storm, moving in a northwest direction across the upper Gulf of Mexico, after beating a path across Florida, struck an area of high pressure and was turned northeastward.

HERBERT HOOVER

20,000 California Women Who Worked with Hoover in Belgian Relief to Meet Him Today

HEAR HIM ACCEPT NOMINATION FOR THE PRESIDENCY

WOMEN WILL COME SINGLY. SI- LENTLY, AS THEY DID IN WAR DAYS

PAST WEEK HAS BEEN WHIRL- WIND OF WORK FOR WOMEN PLEDGING HOOVER AID

Palo Alto, Calif., Aug. 11.—(U.P.)—Twenty thousand California women who worked with Herbert Hoover for Belgian relief during the war will see him face to face for the first time today.

From the high sweeping stands of the Stanford stadium they will view him—the man for whom they worked so unselfishly, so untiringly—hear him accept the republican nomination for president of the United States.

In the sun-browned, earnest faces of these California women, Hoover will rightly read a message of hope and faith.

Not in a body will the women come; nor in formation, not with banners, nor songs. They will come singly, silently, even as they came in the war days.

The past week has been a whirlwind of work for the women who are pledging their efforts to Hoover. Mrs. J. W. Davey, carrying on organization work in San Jose, thought to interest 3,000 women in attending today's ceremony.

The women of northern California have been working 12 hours a day in the interests of the notification meeting in the past week.

The local Hoover-for-president women's organization came into existence four years ago as the Coolidge-Dawes camp. There are 100 units of the group in the northern part of the state.

Women were gathered for today's notification session by a "chain telephone corps." Ten republican women telephoned ten friends, asked them to go to the gathering; the invited women, in turn, telephoned ten more.

The northern California group is recognized and sponsored by the national republican committee, of which Mrs. Aldin T. Hert, of Louisville, Ky., is chief.

Women of the group have not yet met Mrs. Hoover for since her arrival in California she has remained quietly at her home at San Juan Hill, Palo Alto, in mourning for the death of her father.

There will be 40,000 women work-

WOODEN LEG THWARTED HIS SUICIDE ATTEMPT

Minneapolis, Aug. 11.—(U.P.)—Martin Olson, 43, declared here today that a wooden leg thwarted his attempt at suicide.

Olson, made despondent by the heat, and with only 12 cents in his pockets, jumped from the Hennepin avenue bridge here yesterday. His wooden leg kept him afloat until he had had time to cool off and think differently on the ways of life.

Twelve years on the sea had made Olson a good swimmer so he paddled to shore and was taken to General hospital.

CURTIS NOTIFICATION CEREMONIES AT TOPEKA, AUG. 18

Topeka, Kan., Aug. 11.—(U.P.)—The committee in charge of the notification ceremony for Senator Charles Curtis, republican vice presidential nominee, announced that the ceremony will be held on the south steps of the state capitol here on August 18.

The report was brought back by a missionary who visited the American explorers at their base in the interior.

The newly-discovered monsters are unknown to science and were declared by Andrews to be the expedition's greatest find, the missionary said.

The beast is the "grandfather" of the largest monsters hitherto known. Andrews was quoted as saying:

The head bones alone weighed 400 pounds. The head was shaped like a saddle, with the nose narrowing towards the middle and widening at the ends.

The expedition is returning on Aug. 25, the missionary said.

MANY-SIDED EFFORT TO WIN VOTES FOR HOOVER

WORK AMONG WOMEN, FOREIGN BORN, ENGINEERS, COLORED VOTERS

HOOVER DOES NOT GIVE UP HIS HOPES TO CARRY FARM STATES

Washington, Aug. 11.—(U.P.)—Republican headquarters announced today a many-sided effort to win whole blocks of votes for Herbert Hoover.

Work among women, among the foreign born, among engineers and among colored voters was represented as already well under way.

That Hoover has not given up hope of carrying the farm states was indicated by the statement that more than a score of farm editors will attend a luncheon for Hoover at Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

"In his own way and at a round table conference, Hoover will explain to them exactly his views and theories regarding agriculture," the statement said.

Moreover, the party claimed as a Hoover recruit Bert Martin, former secretary-treasurer of the farmer-labor party.

Arthur Ringland, a member of Hoover's child-feeding staff in Belgium during the war, will promote Hoover sentiment among voters of Czech, Slovak, Serbian, Croatian and Slovene origin.

Mrs. Miriam A. Schindler, vice-chairman of the Albany, N. Y., county republican committee, reported to headquarters that a Hoover-Curtis club for women was located "just below the capital and facing the windows of the democratic candidate," the club will hold a huge dance for first voters.

Edgar S. Netherout, secretary of the Illinois committee of the Hoover-for-president engineers, predicted a majority of the 50,000 engineers in the U. S. would support Hoover, a former engineer.

Headquarters also announced plans for Senator Curtis of Kansas, republican vice-presidential nominee, to invade the east on a speaking tour.

An effort will be made to distribute several millions of "Hoover" auto radiator plates to Hoover supporters throughout the country.

AIRPLANES, SPECIAL TRAINS, MOTOR CARS COME

LITTLE COLLEGE TOWN OF PALO ALTO SUBMERGED BY MULTITUDE

COME FOR NOTIFICATION OF HER- BERT HOOVER AS REPUBLICAN PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Stanford University, Palo Alto, Calif., Aug. 11.—Airplanes, special trains and motor cars descended upon this little college town today with bewildering swiftness, bringing tens of thousands for the notification of Herbert Hoover as republican presidential candidate.

Distinguished politicians in high silk hats, ward bosses with gold watch chains, women with a new found interest in politics, college boys and sight seers trooped in to witness the ceremony to be held at 4 P. M. in the big football stadium, officially opening the national political campaign.

It was the first notification ceremony California has witnessed and the same party leaders who rolled up 500,000 votes for Hoover in a United States primary went through an extensive advertising campaign in an effort to fill every one of the places which have been arranged in the stadium for 100,000 persons.

The early arrivals found college boy traffic cops at every corner to direct them. Places for parked cars had been marked off on parched grass about the stadium by the students who have been drilled in handling big football crowds. All stores in town were ordered closed at 1 P. M. so the townspeople could attend the candidate's speeches in a section of the stadium especially reserved for them.

The least disturbed man in town was Hoover. He remained at home and announced he would see no one until time for him to leave by motor for the half mile ride to the stadium. He will read his speech of 8,100 words from a special rostrum which was constructed at the south end of the field. A radio network of 99 stations has been arranged, his office has announced.

The ceremony is to start at 2:30 P. M. The candidate will arrive at about 4 P. M. by motor with Mrs. Hoover.

Hoover's speech is expected to start at 4:10 Pacific time. In his address Hoover is to set forth the issues he has selected for his presidential campaign. It will mark his first public utterance regarding issues since he sent his telegram to the Kansas City convention which nominated him in June. Next Thursday night he is to start back to Washington to begin the actual work of stump campaigning.

There was no doubt about the weather to be expected for the ceremony. At this time of the year, there has never been rain in Palo Alto. The temperature runs from 80 to 90 and the sun seems always to shine.

The nominee celebrated his fifty-fourth birthday yesterday in a quiet fashion. Last night he attended a dinner given him by eastern newspapermen who accompanied him across the continent. Later he went home and sat about the log fire in his living room talking with relatives who came here to see him.

St. Paul, Aug. 10.—Herbert Hoover's speech accepting the republican presidential nomination will be broadcast over the northwest by radio station WCCO at 6:10 P. M. CST today, it was announced here.

Broadcasting of the notification ceremonies will begin at 5:30 P. M. and last until the conclusion of Hoover's address.

Palo Alto, Calif., Aug. 11.—Herbert Hoover has a new $2 watch.

It was given him for his fifty-fourth birthday by eastern newspapermen accompanying his party. The correspondents were informed that the republican presidential nominee never carries anything but a standard $2 watch. He doesn't like more expensive watches and his old one was wearing out.

The newspapermen chipped in and gave him the present in addition to several others.

"In his own way and at a round table conference, Hoover will explain to them exactly his views and theories regarding agriculture," the statement said.

Moreover, the party claimed as a Hoover recruit Bert Martin, former secretary-treasurer of the farmer-labor party.

Arthur Ringland, a member of Hoover's child-feeding staff in Belgium during the war, will promote Hoover sentiment among voters of Czech, Slovak, Serbian, Croatian and Slovene origin.

Mrs. Miriam A. Schindler, vice-chairman of the Albany, N. Y., county republican committee, reported to headquarters that a Hoover-Curtis club for women was located "just below the capital and facing the windows of the democratic candidate," the club will hold a huge dance for first voters.

Edgar S. Netherout, secretary of the Illinois committee of the Hoover-for-president engineers, predicted a majority of the 50,000 engineers in the U. S. would support Hoover, a former engineer.

Headquarters also announced plans for Senator Curtis of Kansas, republican vice-presidential nominee, to invade the east on a speaking tour.

An effort will be made to distribute several millions of "Hoover" auto radiator plates to Hoover supporters throughout the country.

Sextet Is Held, Charges Made of Implication in Half Million Bond Theft

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 11.—(U.P.)—Four men and two women were held here today following charges by police and private detectives that the sextet is implicated in theft of $500,000 worth of bonds from a New York brokerage house.

The arrest followed the offer of Moe Rasken, 35, New York, to sell $20,000 worth of bonds to a detective. Rasken, according to police, confessed the bonds were stolen.

AIRPLANES, SPECIAL TRAINS, MOTOR CARS COME

LITTLE COLLEGE TOWN OF PALO
ALTO SUBMERGED BY MULTITUDE

COME FOR NOTIFICATION OF HER-BERT HOOVER AS REPUBLICAN PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE

By PAUL R. MALLON

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Stanford University, Palo Alto, Calif., Aug. 11.—Airplanes, special trains and motor cars descended upon this little college town today with bewildering swiftness, bringing tens of thousands for the notification of Herbert Hoover as republican presidential candidate.

Distinguished politicians in high silk hats, ward bosses with gold watch chains, women with a new found interest in politics, college boys and sight seers trooped in to witness the ceremony to be held at 4 P. M. in the big football stadium, officially opening the national political campaign.

It was the first notification ceremony California has witnessed and the same party leaders who rolled up 500,000 votes for Hoover in a United States primary went through an extensive advertising campaign in an effort to fill every one of the places which have been arranged in the stadium for 100,000 persons.

The early arrivals found college boy traffic cops at every corner to direct them. Places for parked cars had been marked off on parched grass about the stadium by the students who have been drilled in handling big football crowds. All stores in town were ordered closed at 1 P. M. so the townspeople could attend the candidate's speeches in a section of the stadium especially reserved for them.

The least disturbed man in town was Hoover. He remained at home and announced he would see no one until time for him to leave by motor for the half mile ride to the stadium. He will read his speech of 8,100 words from a special rostrum which was constructed at the south end of the field. A radio network of 99 stations has been arranged, his office has announced.

The ceremony is to start at 2:30 P. M. The candidate will arrive at about 4 P. M. by motor with Mrs. Hoover.

Hoover's speech is expected to start at 4:10 Pacific time. In his address Hoover is to set forth the issues he has selected for his presidential campaign. It will mark his first public utterance regarding issues since he sent his telegram to the Kansas City convention which nominated him in June. Next Thursday night he is to start back to Washington to begin the actual work of stump campaigning.

There was no doubt about the weather to be expected for the ceremony. At this time of the year, there has never been rain in Palo Alto. The temperature runs from 80 to 90 and the sun seems always to shine.

The nominee celebrated his fifty-fourth birthday yesterday in a quiet fashion. Last night he attended a dinner given him by eastern newspapermen who accompanied him across the continent. Later he went home and sat about the log fire in his living room talking with relatives who came here to see him.

St. Paul, Aug. 10.—Herbert Hoover's speech accepting the republican presidential nomination will be broadcast over the northwest by radio station WCCO at 6:10 P. M. CST today, it was announced here.

Broadcasting of the notification ceremonies will begin at 5:30 P. M. and last until the conclusion of Hoover's address.

Palo Alto, Calif., Aug. 11.—Herbert Hoover has a new $2 watch. It was given him by his fifty-fourth birthday by eastern newspapermen accompanying his party. The correspondents were informed that the republican presidential nominee never carries anything but a standard $2 watch. He doesn't like more expensive watches and his old one was wearing out.

The newspapermen chipped in and gave him the present in addition to several others.

10 COUPLES DANCE 564 HOURS AT THE ST. PAUL MARATHON

St. Paul, Aug. 11.—(U.P.)—Twenty-three and a half days of dancing has failed to dampen the enthusiasm of 10 couples in the all-Minnesota marathon here today. At 10 a. m. the 20 dancers had completed 564 hours of almost continuous movement and had bettered the world record recently established at Pittsburgh by 31 hours.

DANCERS PASS BY MINNEAPOLIS MARK

Marriage of Popular Dancer and Her Trainer on Dance Floor Tonight

NINE DANCERS REMAIN

Sunday Night Is Gift Night, Lions and Greenhouse Present Bouquet

Led by Couple No. 10, "Cullie" Rodman and smiling Mrs. Gladys Houston to Brainerd led marathon dancers, now nine strong passed the record of 321 hours set at the recent Minneapolis marathon at nine o'clock this morning. The dancers were entering the 327th hour at three o'clock this afternoon.

The long grind got the better of two more marathonists early this morning when two more contestants dropped out. Edna Tesmer was disqualified at 8 a. m. today when she could not wake up sufficiently to move her feet after a short sleep during the preceding rest period. Her partner Callum DeVilliers, No. 13 is now dancing with the lady of Couple No. 5 who lost her partner early yesterday morning. This is the fourth lady partner for DeVilliers, known to many as the "Shiek" of the marathon, who still appears in good condition.

The other lady to pass up her chance for the prize money was Betty Smith, No. 8 who was forced out at 6 a. m. today. She grew groggy on the floor and went over to the railing for support but she was unable to stay in the race longer. For the last few days she has been dancing with the lady of couple No. 4, popularly known as "Estelle", who is now dancing alone since Miss Smith was forced out.

Last night an announcement was made on the mock marriage of Miss Le Vergue popular No. 5 lady and "Buster" Fitzharris, her trainer, unknown to her before the marathon started. The mock marriage will take place tonight between midnight and 1 a. m. tomorrow morning.

The dancers greatly appreciated a bouquet of "Gladys" recently presented to them by the Lions Club and the Brainerd Greenhouse. Tomorrow night is "Gift Night" for the dancers and the business men of the city have been responding loyally with gifts to be presented to each one of the contestants at that time. For a time last night the dancers had a great time frolicking among themselves. At one time the girls all came on the floor dressed as boys and the boys as girls. They played ring-around-the-rose, tag and other children's games and enjoyed the pastime hugely.

Tomorrow morning from 6 a. m.

At 12 o'clock noon no spectators will be admitted while the dancers hold their church services.

All three Brainerd contestants appear in excellent condition for many more hours at the present time. As soon as one more lady drops out of the race all the remaining contestants will be assured of prizes.

PAJAMA DANCE AT DULUTH FOR
JOHN COOLIDGE

Duluth, Minn., Aug. 11.—(U.P.)—Duluth's younger set has initiated John Coolidge into its inner circle, through the medium of a pajama dance which furnished the president's son with his first social engagement here during the summer season.

While the orchestra blared the notes of "Crazy Rhythm," Grant McDougall, son of A. T. McDougall who owns an estate near the Summer White House, warded off innumerable debutantes who sought introductions while John Coolidge, his friend, made the most of frequent dances with a girl who had triumphed over her companions in the quest for his favor.

DANCERS PASS BY
MINNEAPOLIS MARK

Marriage of Popular Dancer and Her Trainer on Dance Floor Tonight

NINE DANCERS REMAIN

Sunday Night Is Gift Night, Lions and Greenhouse Present Bouquet

Led by Couple No. 10, "Cullie" Rodman and smiling Mrs. Gladys Houston to Brainerd led marathon dancers, now nine strong passed the record of 321 hours set at the recent Minneapolis marathon at nine o'clock this morning. The dancers were entering the 327th hour at three o'clock this afternoon.

The long grind got the better of two more marathonists early this morning when two more contestants dropped out. Edna Tesmer was disqualified at 8 a. m. today when she could not wake up sufficiently to move her feet after a short sleep during the preceding rest period. Her partner Callum DeVilliers, No. 13 is now dancing with the lady of Couple No. 5 who lost her partner early yesterday morning. This is the fourth lady partner for DeVilliers, known to many as the "Shiek" of the marathon, who still appears in good condition.

The other lady to pass up her chance for the prize money was Betty Smith, No. 8 who was forced out at 6 a. m. today. She grew groggy on the floor and went over to the railing for support but she was unable to stay in the race longer. For the last few days she has been dancing with the lady of couple No. 4, popularly known as "Estelle", who is now dancing alone since Miss Smith was forced out.

Last night an announcement was made on the mock marriage of Miss Le Vergue popular No. 5 lady and "Buster" Fitzharris, her trainer, unknown to her before the marathon started. The mock marriage will take place tonight between midnight and 1 a. m. tomorrow morning.

The dancers greatly appreciated a bouquet of "Glads" recently presented to them by the Lions Club and the Brainerd Greenhouse. Tomorrow night is "Gift Night" for the dancers and the business men of the city have been responding loyally with gifts to be presented to each one of the contestants at that time.

For a time last night the dancers had a great time frolicking among themselves. At one time the girls all came on the floor dressed as boys and the boys as girls. They played ring-around-the-rosey, tag and other children's games and enjoyed the pastime hugely.

Tomorrow morning from 6 a. m.

At 12 o'clock noon no spectators will be admitted while the dancers hold their church services.

All three Brainerd contestants appear in excellent condition for many more hours at the present time. As soon as one more lady drops out of the race all the remaining contestants will be assured of prizes.

IS LEFT PENNILESS AND DESTITUTE BY BANDITS

Denver, Colo., Aug. 11.—(U.P.)—Left penniless and destitute by bandits who took his last pay check the day he lost his job, William Rom, a laborer, appealed to the conscience of the thieves through the newspapers here today.

"My children are hungry. They need clothes. Lila is crippled; she must have medicine," Rom's note to the newspapers read. "I will not cause you any trouble and will fully forgive you," he promised the highwaymen, should the $25 he lost be returned.

Mrs. Mary Eastman, Cross Lake Won Three Prizes Last Year

Urged by friends to exhibit flowers last year Mrs. Mary Eastman of Cross Lake filled two bushel baskets with gladiolus, dahlias, sweet peas, zinnias and sent them down to the Crow Wing County Flower Society Show. She was pleasantly surprised to learn later that she had won three valuable prizes.

This year Mrs. Eastman will again exhibit but her method of exhibiting will be in direct contrast to that employed by her last year. She will bring her flowers to the court house at Brainerd for competition August 22 and 23 and they will be artistically arranged by her own hands.

Mrs. Eastman who had never exhibited flowers at a show before last year is a valuable booster for the county annual bower show now.

When she inquired how she possibly could have won the prizes last year, it was explained to her that the flowers she sent down to Brainerd in two bushel baskets had been carefully attended to by the general arrangement committee and entered in their proper classifications.

TO EXHIBIT FLOWERS

Mrs. Mary Eastman, Cross Lake Won Three Prizes Last Year
Urged by friends to exhibit flowers last year Mrs. Mary Eastman of Cross Lake filled two bushel baskets with gladioli, dahlias, sweet peas, zinnias and sent them down to the Crow Wing County Flower Society Show. She was pleasantly surprised to learn later that she had won three valuable prizes.

This year Mrs. Eastman will again exhibit but her method of exhibiting will be in direct contrast to that employed by her last year. She will bring her flowers to the court house at Brainerd for competition August 22 and 23 and they will be artistically arranged by her own hands.

Mrs. Eastman who had never exhibited flowers at a show before last year is a valuable booster for the county annual bower show now. When she inquired how she possibly could have won the prizes last year, it was explained to her that the flowers she sent down to Brainerd in two bushel baskets had been carefully attended to by the general arrangement committee and entered in their proper classifications.

A lifetime of thrills crowded into one hectic week!

VOTERS WHO DO NOT VOTE

THERE are gratifying indications almost everywhere in the United States that the task of those who have been enlisted to "get out the vote" will be an easy one this year, compared to that undertaken in previous years, says the Christian Science Monitor editorially. The voter who does not vote in the coming state and national election promises to be conspicuous because of the diminishing ranks in which he or she will stand. This increased interest in the election is traceable, it must be apparent, to the personal appeal the issues which have been joined have for almost every individual American citizen.

Prosperity, which has been general for several years, is a condition whose continuation is desired by everybody. In ordinary circumstances and with no other issues to be considered, it is probable that a majority of those who usually cast their ballots in a presidential election would vote for the candidate pledged to follow the economic and industrial policies of the present Administration. They would find no alluring promise in the platform of any party urging a change of administrators or a revision of policies.

But there is being urged an entirely new national code, which is neither economic nor industrial. An appeal is being made to personal and class prejudices, with the intention, obviously, of beclouding and befogging the issues which actually exist and which demand the sober, unselfish and individual attention of every individual voter. Those who have succeeded in magnifying this issue, masquerading in the guise of states' rights, individual liberty, tolerance and sectionalism, will need no warning that it is their duty to go to the polls in November. They will be there in augmented numbers to cast their ballots and to see them counted. It is not for them to array themselves on the side of the people who are committed to a higher and better purpose. They have at stake that which means more to them than the stabilization of prosperity, the preservation of the home, the enforcement of the laws, or the supremacy of constitutional government.

What is to be the attitude this year of those American citizens, men and women, who heretofore have been more or less indifferent regarding the outcome of national elections? The temptation sometimes seems to be to believe that reasonable prosperity will be assured, whatever political party is in power. Evidently, it is the hope of those who are arguing a change this year to make it appear that no radical upheaval of economic or industrial policies is intended. Big business, the claim is, has been enlisted upon the side of Governor Smith and the nullificationists. Obviously, it is the desire of those who are offering this consoling assurance to quiet the apprehensions of all who should be awake to the condition which actually exists. Nothing would please them better than for a majority of the voters of the United States to fail to go to the polls.

The responsibility for the results of the next election rests with those voters who, under less compelling circumstances, might be induced to let others do the voting. They have it within their power to insure, without any great effort, the right outcome in November. Let no man or woman, no matter where his or her home state, be deceived by the vain thought that civic decency and good government are automatically assured. Never has there been a more insistent demand for the exercise of that vigilance without which true liberty is bound to perish.

ADVERTISING WINS

NEWSPAPER advertising is the one indispensable factor in successful retailing, whether the city be a large or a small one.

A big Kansas merchant recently listed ten points which had helped him achieve outstanding business. As reported by the Chanute Tribune he said:

1. I advertise regularly. Every issue of the paper takes my story to its readers.
2. I make every ad look like mine. Years ago I adopted a distinctive style, and have stuck to it.
3. I put into newspaper advertising a definite proportion of my gross sales. I fix this at the beginning of the year.
4. I brighten my ads with frequent illustrations either humorous or practical.
5. I am careful to never over-promise. When I make claims I back them up with reasons.
6. I think advertising all the time. I buy goods that will advertise well. Sometimes I buy goods for their advertising value.
7. I get good display for my ads by seeing that the copy is in the newspaper office in plenty of time.
8. Whenever possible, carry the nationally advertised goods that are advertised in my own paper. I feature them.
9. I always plan my windows and counter displays to link up with my newspaper advertising. Each helps the other.
10. My salespeople back up my advertising. They often help with suggestions for it and I see to it that they always read it.

GREAT EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM AT STATE FAIR

THE Minnesota State Fair, at its 69th exhibition, September 1 to 8, will present the most comprehensive educational program ever staged by the institution.

A total of $129,756 to be offered in premiums for educational exhibits, in encouragement of livestock raising, boys' and girls' club work, and agriculture and horticulture, will form one of the largest premium lists ever set aside by any fair in America.

More than 1,100 juveniles, winners of a group of 40,000 boys and girls who took part in district and county competitions, will compete in the finals of more than a dozen club projects.

Two new projects, the lamb and colt raising, have been added to the club work division this year, and the management has approved a prize list for these juvenile workers that totals $20,046.

Premiums for cattle set the pace, totaling $26,755. The cattle show featuring more than 1,500 head of dairy and beef animals, not only will include the finest stock in the state, but many of the outstanding herds of the country.

Prizes in the horse department total $19,200. Prizes in the swine show aggregate $7,120, and for sheep, goats and wool, $4,775.

Forty counties will compete in the booth contests for a set of prizes totaling $17,388.

TUNNEY MAY TAKE MILLION FORTUNE INTO WALL STREET

RUMOR SEVERAL BROKERS OFFERED HIM A POSITION

TUNNEY MAY DECIDE ON BUSINESS CONNECTIONS BEFORE HE SAILS

WILL MAKE WALKING TOUR WITH THORNTON WILDER, NOVELIST.

New York, Aug. 11.—(UP)—Gene Tunney may take his million dollars and go into Wall Street with it.

While no statement has come from the former heavyweight champion on plans for his career after his marriage to the socially prominent and wealthy Miss Mary Lauder, there were persistent reports today that several Wall Street firms had offered Tunney a job.

One offer was said to have come from the firm of G. M. P. Murphy & Co., brokers and financiers. The report lacked confirmation, but it was said Tunney may decide on his business connection before he sails next Thursday for Europe, where he is to make a walking tour with Thornton Wilder, novelist. The marriage will be in the fall.

In marrying Miss Lauder, Tunney is linking his future with an heiress to part of the Carnegie millions and joining a family long prominent in the financial world. Incidentally his name will be recorded in at least one edition of the social register, the next issue of which will record his marriage. Whether his name remains there is doubtful.

Tunney is the first prize-fighter ever to make the register.

Amsterdam, Aug. 11.—Unstinted praise was given today to eight brawny California collegians and a diminutive but powerful lunged youngster who berated them into bringing the 1928 Olympic rowing championship to the United States. It was Don Blessing's exhortations and his super-coxswainship which brought the American crew across the finish line of the 2,000 metres course three-quarters of a boat length ahead of the English eight, sportsmen here agreed.

The eight-oared battle was the last event on a program which included seven final contests. The United States, with a first, two seconds and one third place, held a narrow lead over Great Britain in points and the eight-oared race became the deciding factor.

Earlier in the day, the Penn A. C. double sculls team won its final heat from Canada. Kenneth Myers, of the Bachelors' Barge club of Philadelphia and the Penn Barge club four-oared shell without coxswain placed second in the finals of their events and the Penn Barbe club's pair-oared shell without coxswain placed third.

The official time was 6 minutes, 31-5 seconds.

Other final rowing results were: United States double sculls defeated Canada.

Bobby Pearce, Australia, won the single sculls event from Kenneth Myers, Philadelphia.

Great Britain's four-oared shells defeated the Penn Barge club of the United States.

The Penn Barge club pair-oared shell without coxswain defeated Italy for third place in that event.

Switzerland defeated France in the paired-oared shell with coxswain.

The United States boxing team was twice victorious and sustained one defeat in the semi-final rounds yesterday.

John L. Daley, Waltham, Mass., bantamweight, won a decision from Isaac, South Africa.

Stephen Holafko, Buffalo, N. Y., lightweight, won a decision from Bergen of Sweden.

Van Klaverin, Holland, featherweight, defeated Harry Devine, of Worcester, Mass.

The United States swimming and diving team placed representatives in the finals for all four events yesterday.

Johnny Weissmuller, Chicago; George Kojac, New York; and Walter Laufer, Chicago, are to compete in the finals of the 100 metres free style swim.

Miss Braun, of Holland, broke the world's record in the women's 100 metres backstroke. Time: 21 3-5 seconds.

Miss Lisa Lindstrom, United States, qualified by winning second place. Miss Eleanor Holm, of New York, also qualified.

Miss Albina Ostrovitch, Worcester, Mass., equalled the Olympic record of one minute 12 2-5 seconds for the women's 100 metres free style swim.

(By United Press)

Yesterday's Hero—Jack Quinn, veteran American league pitcher, who held Washington to four scattered hits, won a shutout victory 8 to 0, and enabled the Philadelphia Athletics to keep within four and a half games of the leading New York Yankees.

Lou Gehrig's 20th home run of the year, with Ruth and Gazella on bases, gave the New York Yankees three runs in the third inning and paved the way for their 5 to 2 defeat of the Boston Red Sox.

A ninth inning rally by Cleveland was checked by the Detroit Tigers after five runs had been scored, allowing the Tigers to defeat the Indians, 8 to 7.

The Chicago White Sox bunched hits in the first and eighth innings to score five runs and defeat the St. Louis Browns, 5 to 3.

St. Louis downed the Pittsburgh Pirates in 12 innings, 2 to 1, to maintain their four game lead in the National league.

Freddy Lindstrom drove in five runs for the New York Giants and the lowly Philadelphia Nationals again bowed in defeat, 8 to 4. Lindstrom hit a home run in the first inning with two men on base and his single with the bases loaded in the seventh scored two more men.

Dazzy Vance held Boston's Braves to five hits and the Brooklyn Robins won a game, 5 to 1.

Near End of the Trail!

By QUIN HALL.

WHENEVER anybody brings up the subject about Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker being about ready to retire from baseball some fellow who knows more about baseball than you do—or, at least, who thinks he knows more—arises and states, "Aw, they got a lotta baseball left in 'em YET."

Which puts one in rather a precarious position when one wishes to bring up the retirement of the two well-known baseballers.

But the subject of their retirement is again bobbing into the public prints and it's natural for a thing like that to be discussed—timely and all that. So we'll just state facts and you can write your own ticket. We refuse to be drawn into an argument on the subject.

When the breath of scandal blew their way it was certain that they would fight it and remain in the game. It failed to blow them out of the limelight, but instead blew them into more lucrative jobs than they had ever held. So much for the scandal. The old grayheads found that scandal of two years ago worth nearly $100,000 apiece to them. It came when they were about ready to be eased into retirement, and they found themselves suddenly the heroes of the fans. As it turned out, there wasn't anything wrong discovered about these two youngsters, but it turned them into showmen and highly valuable assets to any ball club.

With the scandal forgotten, these two boys now find that they have to play ball to keep their jobs. They have to stand on their own legs, and the underpinning isn't as good as it was years ago. They can still hit the apple, and Cobb occasionally does a remarkable bit of baserunning, and while early this season they collaborated in winning some useful victories for the Athletics, Speaker is now spending most of his time on the bench, following a collision earlier in the year with Bing Miller, the ex-Browie, and while Cobb is playing in a lot of ball games, the old flare isn't there. He just isn't hitting on all six, and there's little wonder why he isn't.

Cobb broke into the game with Detroit and never played ball any place else until he was set adrift by Navin and picked up by Connie Mack in the Winter of 1926. Speaker, the old Gray Eagle, made his reputation with the Boston Red Sox, world champions in 1918, before going to Cleveland to take over the managership of the Indians.

Cobb is wealthy and while Tris doesn't rank as high in finances as the Georgia Peach he has made plenty of money during the last two seasons and can quit tomorrow comfortably well fixed.

One peculiarly strange circumstance about the situation is that the two old rivals should finish their playing days on the same club. But even baseball bedfellows are often strangers on occasions.

Their passing will be quite a sad thing to a lot of the older fans who over a long stretch of years have grown accustomed to seeing the names of Cobb and Speaker in the box scores. It will seem almost like being served the spare ribs without the sauerkraut. And while the game won't seem the same without them the Georgia Peach and the Gray Eagle will also miss the glamor of the ball field and the cheers—and on occasion, the jeers—of the fans.

And while next year there will be new idols coming up to endure themselves to the customers there will always be a warm spot in the hearts of the b. b. bugs for Cobb and Speaker, the old war horses of the national pastime.

Watching the Scoreboard

(By United Press)

Yesterday's Hero—Jack Quinn, veteran American league pitcher, who held Washington to four scattered hits, won a shutout victory 8 to 0, and enabled the Philadelphia Athletics to keep within four and a half games of the leading New York Yankees.

Lou Gehrig's 20th home run of the year, with Ruth and Gazzera on bases, gave the New York Yankees three runs in the third inning and paved the way for their 5 to 2 defeat of the Boston Red Sox.

A ninth inning rally by Cleveland was checked by the Detroit Tigers after five runs had been scored, allowing the Tigers to defeat the Indians, 8 to 7.

The Chicago White Sox bunched hits in the first and eighth innings to score five runs and defeat the St. Louis Browns, 5 to 3.

St. Louis downed the Pittsburgh Pirates in 12 innings, 2 to 1, to maintain their four game lead in the National league.

Freddy Lindstrom drove in five runs for the New York Giants and the lowly Philadelphia Nationals again bowed in defeat, 8 to 4. Lindstrom hit a home run in the first inning with two men on base and his single with the bases loaded in the seventh scored two more men.

Dizzy Vance held Boston's Braves to five hits and the Brooklyn Robins won a game, 5 to 1.

Near End of the Trail!

By QUIN HALL.

WHENEVER anybody brings up the subject about Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker being about ready to retire from baseball some fellow who knows more about baseball than you do—or, at least, who thinks he knows more—arises and states, "Aw, they got a lotta baseball left in 'em YET."

Which puts one in rather a precarious position when one wishes to bring up the retirement of the two well-known ballplayers. But the subject of their retirement is again bobbing into the public prints and it's natural for a thing like that to be discussed—timely and all that. So we'll just state facts and you can write your own ticket. We refuse to be drawn into an argument on the subject.

When the breath of scandal blew their way it was certain that they would fight it and remain in the game. It failed to blow them out of the limelight, but instead blew them into more lucrative jobs than they had ever held. So much for the scandal. The old grayheads found that scandal of two years ago worth nearly $100,000 apiece to them. It came when they were about ready to be eased into retirement, and they found themselves suddenly the heroes of the fans. As it turned out, there wasn't anything wrong discovered about these two youngsters, but it turned them into showmen and highly valuable assets to any ball club.

With the scandal forgotten, these two boys now find that they have to play ball to keep their jobs. They have to stand on their own legs, and the underpinning isn't as good as it was years ago. They can still hit the apple, and Cobb occasionally does a remarkable bit of baserunning, and while early this season they collaborated in winning some useful victories for the Athletics, Speaker is now spending most of his time on the bench, following a collision earlier in the year with Bing Miller, the ex-Browns, and, while Cobb is playing in a lot of ball games, the old flare isn't there. He just isn't hitting on all six, and there's little wonder why he isn't.

Cobb broke into the game with Detroit and never played ball any place else until he was set adrift by Navin and picked up by Connie Mack in the Winter of 1926. Speaker, the old Gray Eagle, made his reputation with the Boston Red Sox, world champions in 1918, before going to Cleveland to take over the managementship of the Indians.

Cobb is wealthy and while Tris doesn't rank as high in finances as the Georgia Peach he has made plenty of money during the last two seasons and can quit tomorrow comfortably well fixed.

One peculiarly strange circumstance about the situation is that the two old rivals should finish their playing days on the same club. But even baseball bed-fellows are often strangers on occasions.

Their passing will be quite a sad thing to a lot of the older fans who over a long stretch of years have grown accustomed to seeing the names of Cobb and Speaker in the box scores. It will seem almost like being served the spare ribs without the sauerkraut. And while the game won't seem the same without them the Georgia Peach and the Gray Eagle will also miss the glamor of the ball field and the cheers—and on occasion, the jeers—of the fans.

And while next year there will be new idols coming up to endear themselves to the customers there will always be a warm spot in the hearts of the b. b. bugs for Cobb and Speaker, the old war horses of the national pastime.

The thrill of a baseball game is written on the faces of this party of Northern Pacific Railway officers. The photograph was taken a few days ago when Charles Donnelly, president of the railway company, and other officers attended a game in which the Northern Pacific baseball team participated. In the front row left to right are Charles Donnelly, F. E. Williamson, vice president in charge of operation, Sidney B. Dean, St. Paul business man, and R. W. Clark, general traffic manager of the railway; in the second row from left to right are J. G. Woodworth, vice president in charge of traffic, H. E. Stevens, chief engineer, Bernard Blum, engineer maintenance of way, and J. T. Derrig, district engineer.

NEW GYMNASIUM PLAN ENDORSED BY BOARD

Location of Boys and Girls Gymnasiums to Be South of Auditorium

REJECT COAL BIDS

Committees Report on New Teachers Engaged and Repair Work at Different Schools

A rearrangement plan relative to the location of the boys and girls gymnasiums to the auditorium as outlined by E. B. Croft of the firm of Croft and Boerner, architects for the construction of the new high school at the meeting of the Board of Education this week was heartily endorsed by the board.

The revised plan will offer added conveniences to athletes and fans as the gymnasiums will run east and west the entire length of the school at the south with two entrances on Pine street. The auditorium is planned north and south with entrance on Oak street.

The resignation was accepted from Mrs. Irene Foster Lincoln, teacher at the Lincoln school. The teachers committee reported having engaged Miss Madge G. True as art supervisor at the Brainerd high school, Miss Winnifred Spencer for high school work and Miss Kathleen Mumm for grade work.

The building committee reported on repair work being done at the various buildings of which the large items include the repairing of the old boiler in the old court house building by replacing of flues, and the installation of two additional sections of mass coils to the heating plant at the Lowell building.

The committee also reported having solicited bids for painting and cleaning work to be done at the Riverside and Whittier school buildings and from the number of bids received Quinlen and Weisz were the successful bidders. The work includes the painting of the exterior of the Riverside building, washing down the entire interior of the building and varnishing of all the woodwork in the interior of the Whittier building.

The fuel committee reported that in compliance with instructions received at the last meeting of the board, they had advertised for bids to furnish the board with 385 tons of coal. As a result the committee offered five sealed bids for the board's consideration. With practically all the bids the same a motion was carried after all bids opened to reject all bids and the committee was directed to buy coal on the open market.

The quarterly report of the treasurer for the quarter ending April 30 was accepted including the report of the finance committee and the report for the quarter ending July 31 was received and referred to the finance committee for checking.

The report for the quarter ending July 31 showed a balance on hand of $355,193.86.

On motion the board decided to advertise for sealed bids for the purchase of the six school lots on the corner of 6th and Oak streets, the bids to be received at the September meeting of the board, the board reserving the right to reject any or all bids.

In the absence of G. D. LaBar, president of the board, Vice President R. W. Crust presided.

ROAD CONDITIONS GENERALLY GOOD

Road conditions throughout the state are generally good, but some of the unpaved routes are showing the effects of the heavy summer traffic, according to the weekly condition report issued by the Minnesota Highway department today. No serious damage was done by the heavy rains which struck some sections of the state Monday, and minor washouts have been repaired.

Another stretch of new pavement on T. H. No. 62, from the junction with No. 5 to the junction with No. 63, will be opened next Monday. This will make it possible, by going on the old route to New Brighton, to go over pavement all the way from St. Paul to Anoka.

Oiling, graveling and reshaping is in progress in several places. Detailed report of Brainerd Lake Region trunk roads is given here-with:

T. H. No. 2—Duluth, Brainerd, Wadena, Detroit Lakes and Moorhead—269 miles. Duluth paved, Carlton good, McGregor fair, Aitkin good, Wadena good, oiling, Detroit Lakes good, Hawley paved, Moorhead.

RANGE MASONS HOLD PICNIC

Two Hundred Gather at Breezy Point for Their Annual Outing

ENJOY DINNER DANCE

Trapshooting, Golf, Dancing Are Features of Day; Large Cake Presented

About 200 people gathered at Breezy Point Wednesday afternoon and evening when Masons and their families held their annual Cuyuna Range Masonic picnic. Brainerd and Aitkin were represented by a few Masons while a large number attended from Crosby-Ironton and nearby towns.

The afternoon program began at two o'clock and a golf tournament, bowling matches and a trapshooting contest furnished a great deal of amusement and entertainment for those present. Jay Bennett of Crosby walked away with the trap shooting honors when he broke 43 out of a possible 50 birds.

A very delicious dinner and dance featured the evening program. Dr. E. T. Lee of Crosby celebrated his 34th birthday by presenting the assemblage with a mammoth cake, measuring three feet in diameter and two feet high.

Later in the evening the party trooped to the pavilion where they danced to pleasing strains of music by the orchestra playing for the picnic. Bathing furnished another recreation at all hours of the afternoon and evening.

A. F. Hicks of Wenatchee, Washington and formerly of Brainerd motored from his Washington home to spend two weeks here visiting his brother, Ed Hicks and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Hicks. This is Mr. Hicks' first visit to Brainerd since he left here three years ago.

Mr. Hicks who was formerly with the Lyceum and Park theaters here is now in the bill posting business in Wenatchee. He reports that it is surprising the number of Brainerd people he has seen in Washington since he left here. He recently saw Jay Quinn of Brainerd driving on one of the Seattle thoroughfares. Mr. Hicks comments on the improvements in the buildings in Brainerd since his departure three years ago.

Earl R. Berg, Water Safety Director, Completes Swim in Two Hours, Ten Minutes

THREE OTHERS ON TRIP

Dave Templeton, "Tuffy" Gillette, Jay Burton Swim Part Distances in Stretch

Earl R. Berg, water safety director for Crow Wing county, completed a six-mile swim at 1:40 P. M. today at Lum Park after being in the water two hours and ten minutes.

Dave Templeton and "Tuffy" Gillette, both 14 years old, swam one mile and a half at the start of the long distance swim this morning, leaving the water at the lower point of the island at the lower end of Rice lake.

Jay Burton swam from the lower point of the island to the upper point, then to Pine Shores and to the diving pier at Lum park.

Earl Berg swam from the diving tower to the island, back to Pine Shores and returned to the Lum park walk before touching land.

ROAD CONDITIONS GENERALLY GOOD

Road conditions throughout the state are generally good, but some of the unpaved routes are showing the effects of the heavy summer traffic, according to the weekly condition report issued by the Minnesota Highway department today. No serious damage was done by the heavy rains which struck some sections of the state Monday, and minor washouts have been repaired.

Another stretch of new pavement on T. H. No. 62, from the junction with No. 5 to the junction with No. 63, will be opened next Monday. This will make it possible, by going on the old route to New Brighton, to go over pavement all the way from St. Paul to Anoka.

Oiling, graveling and reshaping is in progress in several places. Detailed report of Brainerd Lake Region trunk roads is given herewith:

T. H. No. 2—Duluth, Brainerd, Wadena, Detroit Lakes and Moorhead—260 miles. Duluth paved, Carlton good, McGregor fair, Aitkin good, Wadena good, oiling, Detroit Lakes good, Hawley paved, Moorhead.

T. H. No. 1—Elk River, Milaca and Brainerd—103 miles. Elk River good, Princeton fresh tar, good, Milaca good, Brainerd.

T. H. No. 19—Brainerd, Walker and Cass Lake—93 miles. Good.

T. H. No. 27—St. Cloud, Little Falls and Brainerd—62 miles. Paved.

RANGE MASONS HOLD PICNIC

Two Hundred Gather at Breezy Point for Their Annual Outing

ENJOY DINNER DANCE

Trapshooting, Golf, Dancing Are Features of Day; Large Cake Presented

About 200 people gathered at Breezy Point Wednesday afternoon and evening when Masons and their families held their annual Cuyuna Range Masonic picnic. Brainerd and Aitkin were represented by a few Masons while a large number attended from Crosby-Ironton and nearby towns.

The afternoon program began at two o'clock and a golf tourney, bowling matches and a trapshooting contest furnished a great deal of amusement and entertainment for those present. Jay Bennett of Crosby walked away with the trap shooting honors when he broke 43 out of a possible 50 birds.

A very delicious dinner and dance featured the evening program. Dr. E. T. Lee of Crosby celebrated his 34th birthday by presenting the assemblage with a mammoth cake, measuring three feet in diameter and two feet high.

Later in the evening the party trooped to the pavilion where they danced to pleasing strains of music by the orchestra playing for the picnic. Bathing furnished another recreation at all hours of the afternoon and evening.

Love's Ecstasy

by May Christie

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

ALEDA RAY, pretty country girl working in New York as a stenographer, and Gary Chester, young engineer, are in love. Alela is living with Marise de Rense and the latter's young, sophisticated sister, Goldie. Goldie, jealous of Alela, tricks her into attending a scandalous party and then notifies Gary. He, disillusioned, avoids Alela. Goldie, visiting Alela's office, meets Gary Chester and again maliciously poisons his mind with falsehoods about Alela. Before she leaves the office, Lingard, Alela's employer, enters and mistakes Goldie for Marise!

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XLV.

"MARRY? It is Marise?" William B. Lingard, in his outer office, was staring at Goldie as though hypnotized.

At first, before he voiced Marise's name in this tense manner, she had thought he was insane. She gave a shaky laugh now, half relieved, yet extraordinarily curious. He had mistaken her for her elder sister, oddly enough.

But that was all. "I'm NOT Marise—not by twenty years! She's my old-maid sister!" Goldie got herself together, and smiled impishly into his face. She was still sore from Gary Chester's cavalier departure and lack of interest in herself. Here was a fresh field for an adventure.

This man was rich. At some time or another—evidently years ago, since he had mistaken her own youthful prettiness for one whose charms (according to Goldie's idea) had long since vanished—he had had some romantic association with Marise!

She, then, the younger sister—who now had the advantage of all the freshness—would profit by it. She said, coquettishly: "Won't I do instead?" With a provocative upward glance from her green eyes.

He still looked as though he were in a daze. "A little sister? I never knew she had a—sister? Would you mind telling me—your name—your full name?"

"Goldie de Rense," rapped out the flapper. What mystery was here? "De Rense?" he repeated. His brows knitted. There was a puzzled, searching look on his face. Goldie decided it was a good-looking manly sort of countenance, albeit rugged. Not that she cared one way or the other about his appearance, since he had cash—oodles of cash!

"Yes. That's our name. And as Marise is an old maid, she's never had another name—nor likely to have!" Goldie's laugh gusted.

"Why are you here?" "Your secretary, Miss Ray—I know her." Then, with a quick stroke of imagination—"I was expecting her to come out with me to dinner tonight. But she had gone from the office." Goldie regarded Mr. Lingard plaintively, provocatively. "So I'm left in the lurch—"

He fell into the trap—but not because of her charm, as she imagined.

He said, slowly, hesitatingly: "I'd like to have—a little talk with you? You say your dinner engagement has fallen through? Would you—I wonder—he seemed confident about it, but her expectant and encouraging manner helped him—" "would you care to take a bit of food with me tonight?"

He leaped at the opportunity. Her green eyes gleamed. She'd show them . . . Alela . . . Marise . . . and Gary Chester, who had snubbed her, what a big killing she could make, what big game she could bring down!

"I'd love it. Let's go somewhere where it's cool. Say, the Ritz roof?"

He was a little startled. She thought: "He's married, and he doesn't want to be seen with me in such a public place?"

But she persisted. She'd never been inside the Ritz, and now was her chance to flaunt herself.

How she would boast about it to Alela! (who would doubtless pass the news on to that stuck-up Gary Chester!) How she would crow over Marise!

As they bowed uptown in his beautiful appointed limousine, Goldie snuggled back in the interior beside Mr. Lingard, thoroughly enjoying herself.

It was annoying that, throughout dinner (she ordered the most expensive dishes on the menu) he persistently questioned her about Marise.

At last she said, to put a quietus on this subject:—"Marise is head over heels in love with a young Englishman!"

William B. Lingard was silent.

for a while, staring across the palm-decked roof of the Ritz into space. Was it possible, the flapper wondered, that he really had been sweet upon her elder sister? She took the bull by the horns, asked: "Are you married?" and when he answered: "No," she began to plot and plan.

Suppose that she—Goldie de Rense—could contrive to catch him, she needn't stay married to him long—she'd make it too uncomfortable for him, and have a divorce and thereby gain enormous alimony! A wise girl (Goldie had an inflated idea of her own abilities) could play her cards cleverly!

At the end of the meal, he said, abruptly: "I'll take you home."

And when they reached the house on West Fortieth, and the chauffeur helped her and his master from the car, and rang the bell, Marise opened the front-door.

She turned very white when she saw who was with Goldie. She held on to the door-knob, as though for support.

Lingard walked into the house. From then, on, it seemed that Goldie was forgotten. Those two sat on the sofa in the living-room, talking in low tones.

He wanted to hear so much of Marise's life . . .

The phone rang. Marise said: "Goldie, you go dear, and answer it." The girl rose reluctantly and went out into the hall.

It was only a wrong number, and as she was hurrying back, for fear she should miss anything, she heard Lingard say, tensely:—"If I'd only known your whereabouts! Why did you hide away? And why did you change your name, Marise? What's this de Rense business? Why did you assume you had a different name?"

When I knew you— Breath catching in amazement, Goldie halted. Marise—not a de Rense? Good heavens! It was impossible— incredible! She stole behind the heavy curtains that were near the sofa, and that divided the lobby from the living-room. Marise murmured:—"Sh—sh! She mustn't hear."

Then Goldie had to strain her ears to catch it—again came Lingard's voice.

"She doesn't know who she is, Marise? Is that quite fair to her? Some day you'll have to tell little Goldie that she isn't your sister, but—your daughter! To keep her in the dark so long isn't quite fair—to the child!"

The Future Mrs. Gene Tunney

Miss Mary Josephine Lauder's engagement to Gene Tunney, the literary lambaster, has been announced by her mother from Greenwich, Conn. Miss Lauder is pretty, socially prominent—and immensely wealthy—and yielded to the ex-heavyweight champion's plea that she become his wife sometime last January. She murmured "yes, if—" Hence Tunney's important announcement to the newspaper boys the other day.

This man was rich. At some time or another—evidently years ago, since he had mistaken her own youthful prettiness for one whose charms (according to Goldie's idea) had long since vanished—he had had some romantic association with Marise.

She, then, the younger sister—who now had the advantage of all the freshness—would profit by it. She said, coquettishly: "Won't I do instead?" With a provocative upward glance from her green eyes.

He still looked as though he were in a daze. "A little sister? I never knew she had a sister? Would you mind telling me—your name—your full name?"

"Goldie de Rense," rapped out the flapper. What mystery was here? "De Rense?" he repeated. His brows knitted. There was a puzzled, searching look on his face. Goldie decided it was a good-looking man, not that she cared one way or the other about his appearance, since he had cash—oodles of cash!

"Yes. That's our name. And as Marise is an old maid, she's never had another name—nor likely to have!" Goldie's laugh gusted.

"Why are you here?" "Your secretary, Miss Ray—I know her." Then, with a quick stroke of imagination—"I was expecting her to come out with me to dinner tonight. But she had gone from the office." Goldie regarded Mr. Lingard plaintively, provocatively. "So I'm left in the lurch—"

He fell into the trap—but not because of her charm, as she imagined.

He said, slowly, hesitatingly: "I'd like to have—a little talk with you? You say your dinner engagement has fallen through? Would you—I wonder—seem to be diffident about it, but her expectant and encouraging manner helped him—"

"would you care to take a bit of food with me tonight?" Her green eyes gleamed. She'd show them . . . Alela, Marise . . . and Gary Chester, who had snubbed her, what a big killing she could make, what big game she could bring down!

"I'd love it. Let's go somewhere where it's cool. Say, the Ritz roof?"

He was a little startled. She thought: "He's married, and he doesn't want to be seen with me in such a public place?"

But she persisted. She'd never been inside the Ritz, and now was her chance to flaunt herself. How she would boast about it to Alela! (who would doubtless pass the news on to that stuck-up Gary Chester!) How she would crow over Marise!

As they bowed uptown in his beautiful appointed limousine, Goldie snuggled back in the interior beside Mr. Lingard, thoroughly enjoying herself.

It was annoying that, throughout dinner (she ordered the most expensive dishes on the menu) he persistently questioned her about Marise.

At last she said, to put a quietus on this subject:—"Marise is head over heels in love with a young Englishman!"

William B. Lingard was silent.

for a while, staring across the palm-decked roof of the Ritz into space. Was it possible, the flapper wondered, that he really had been sweet upon her elder sister? She took the bull by the horns, asked: "Are you married?" and when he answered: "No," she began to plot and plan.

Suppose that she—Goldie de Rense—could contrive to catch him, she needn't stay married to him long—she'd make it too uncomfortable for him, and have a divorce and thereby gain enormous alimony! A wise girl (Goldie had an inflated idea of her own abilities) could play her cards cleverly!

At the end of the meal, he said, abruptly: "I'll take you home." And when they reached the house on West Fortieth, and the chauffeur helped her and his master from the car, and rang the bell, Marise opened the front-door.

She turned very white when she saw who was with Goldie. She held on to the door-knob, as though for support.

Lingard walked into the house. From then, on, it seemed that Goldie was forgotten. Those two sat on the sofa in the living-room, talking in low tones.

He wanted to hear so much of Marise's life.

The phone rang. Marise said: "Goldie, you go dear, and answer it." The girl rose reluctantly and went out into the hall.

It was only a wrong number, and as she was hurrying back, for fear she should miss anything, she heard Lingard say, tensely:—"If I'd only known your whereabouts! Why did you hide away? And why did you change your name, Marise? What's this de Rense business? Why did you assume you had a different name?"

When I knew you—"

Breath catching in amazement, Goldie halted. Marise—not a de Rense? Good heavens! It was impossible—"

She stole behind the heavy curtains that were near the sofa, and that divided the lobby from the living-room. Marise murmured:—"Sh—sh! She mustn't hear."

Then Goldie had to strain her ears to catch it—again came Lingard's voice.

"She doesn't know who she is, Marise? Is that quite fair to her? Some day you'll have to tell little Goldie that she isn't your sister, but—your daughter! To keep her in the dark so long isn't quite fair—to the child!"

The Future Mrs. Gene Tunney

Miss Mary Josephine Lauder's engagement to Gene Tunney, the literary lambaster, has been announced by her mother from Greenwich, Conn. Miss Lauder is pretty, socially prominent—and immensely wealthy—and yielded to the ex-heavyweight champion's plea that she become his wife sometime last January. She murmured "yes, IF—." Hence Tunney's important announcement to the newspaper boys the other day.

'Eeney and 'Is Bride

Here's Tammie Heeney, the old "rock from down under," and his bride of a few days. She was formerly Miss Josephine Dunn of Port Washington, L. I., and has known the fighter for nearly a year. They're going to visit Tom's home in New Zealand on their honeymoon.
